

Space Elevator Competition

- First Annual Space Elevator Competition
- Spaceward Foundation to hold the First Annual Space Elevator Competition October 21st, 2005 at NASA's Ames Research Center
- Mountain View, CA - Spaceward Foundation will be hosting the first Space Elevator Competition at the NASA Ames Research Center October 21st through the 23rd. Also known as the Space Elevator Games, the event consists of two competitions with prize money furnished by the NASA Centennial Challenges program. Teams from universities and industry around the country are entered in the competitions.

ABOUT NASA AMES RESEARCH CENTER

NASA EH ViTS, 10/21/05

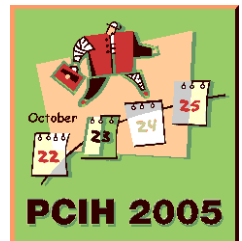

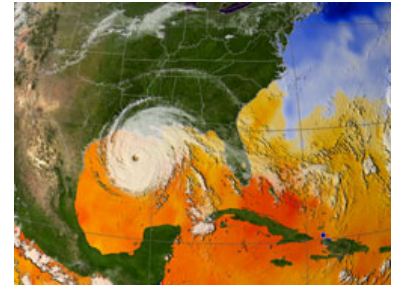

Today's Agenda

- Introduction
 - Current News
- Nanotechnology: Overview, and Relevance to Occupational Health
 - Andrew Maynard, Ph.D
 - Science Advisor, Project on Emerging Nanotechnologies - Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars @The Smithsonian Institution

News Items

- HCP Policy Review (10/17)
- SSC and MAF continuing to recover from Hurricane Katrina
- Training Course at MSFC open to all NASA Center staff- BSI's "Implementing and Auditing a Health and Safety Management System" - please contact Dave Thaxton at MSFC 11/8-10/2005
- PCIH is this weekend and next week in Denver
- AIHA Future Leaders Institute in 2006
- November 1, 2-3 PM EST ViTS on ANSI Z10

Nanotechnology, NASA, and Purdue

...The two existing national centers already housed at Birck are the NASA Institute for Nanoelectronics and Computing